Total returns are calculated using the sell (exit) price, net of management fees and gross of tax as if distributions of income have been reinvested at the actual distribution reinvestment price. The actual returns received by an investor will depend on the timing, buy and exit prices of individual transactions. Return of capital and the performance of your investment in the fund are not guaranteed. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Figures showing a period of less than one year have not been adjusted to show an annual total return. Figures for periods of greater than one year are on a per annum compound basis. The current benchmark may not have been the benchmark over all periods shown in the above chart and tables. The calculation of the benchmark performance links the performance of previous benchmarks and the current benchmark over the relevant time periods.

Commentary

The Australian Ethical Fixed Interest Fund performed in line with the index over the March Quarter. As yields climbed, the Bloomberg Ausbond Composite Bond Index 0+ was down -3.22%, with the gross return of the fund down -3.24%. After fees, wholesale units of the fund were down -3.30%, and retail units were down -3.36%.

The poor performance of bonds over the quarter was the result of rapid yield rises, particularly in February, as markets began pricing in inflation outcomes that align with Central Bank target ranges both in the US and Australia. This repricing occurred in the absence of observed inflation outcomes, and instead represents a change in market expectations as vaccine rollouts commenced and the US stimulus package passed both houses of Congress.

While the front end of the domestic yield curve remains anchored by RBA Yield Curve Controls, the 5 year yield increased by 0.56% over the quarter, with longer 10 year yields increasing 0.65%. Government Bonds saw the largest declines, detracting 2.19% from the fund, while State Government Bonds were next by detracting 0.79%.

The Fund continues to retain a neutral duration position, believing that Central Banks will look through stronger data outcomes near-term and maintain their accommodative stance.
